

Guardian Angel

In a realm above, where heavens reside, angels of light, our dreams they guide.

From ethereal heights, they descend with grace to hope and love's embrace.

Unseen protectors, their presence we feel a warmth for the assured as they heal.

In the darkest hours, when shadows loom, the radiant presence dispels the gloom.

Guardian angels, with wings so bright they lead our loved ones to eternal light.

Kindness, compassion, empathy, they impart. Encouraging souls to make a new start.

With their loved divine, we find our way, to mark this world a better place each day.

In our hearts, the lights will gleam, a beacon of hope, a guardian's dream.

An original poem by Alfie Dewhirst